SURVIVORS OF LOST PLANE ARE SPOTTED

C-54 Carrying Crew of Seven and Thirty Passengers Forced Down in the Pacific

SEA REPORTED CALM

Johnston Island, Dec. 6.—(P)—An undetermined number of survivors of an Air Force C-54 transport, forced down in the mid-Pacific, was placed under constant air watch today while a rescue ship sped towards the scene.

The plane, with 37 Air Force personnel aboard, was ditched early Sunday 478 miles southwest of this tiny island and about 1,200 miles southwest of Honolulu.

The navy patrol craft PC1141 from Johnston Island was due to reach the survivors about 1 p. m. Johnston Island time (7 p. m., EST). The escort aircraft carrier Bando and the navy freighter Zelma were due at the scene about the same time.

Flares were sighted late Sunday night by a B-17 search plane which dropped a 27-foot boat. Officers directing the rescue operation said flares seen later indicated that at least some of the castaways had managed to board the boat.

A navy Privateer re-located the men early today and took up a vigil overhead.

Relays of planes were to maintain this watch until the surface craft arrived.

The C-54 was one of a flight of seven planes from Okinawa to Spokane, Wash. It carried a crew of seven and 30 passengers.

Col. Thomas L. Wiper, Johnston Island commander who flew near the scene, reported he had seen signals from the water after the pilot of an air force search plane had spotted the survivors and dropped a boat.

The Air Force pilot radioed first word that some survivors had been spotted.

"Sighted flares," came the radio message from the search plane. "Dropped boat. Boat landed about 100 yards from survivors. Don't know whether they saw it or not."

The pilot, Capt. Allen H. Stotts of the Hickam Field Air Rescue Unit, messaged also that his gas supply was running low. He stated he had back for his tiny island base while other planes were ordered to the scene immediately.

(In Honolulu, the Pacific Air Command said a Navy Privateer reported sighting flares on the water about 20 miles from where Stotts had dropped a boat. The Air Force said it was possible it was a second group of survivors.)

Lt. Charles Basset of Spokane, Wash., reported that the sea was calm in the area and visibility good. He is a navigator aboard a C-54 which returned early today from the general area of the search. Basset's plane was one of five in the flight in which the downed plane participated.

Stotts did not report how many survivors he could see. However, it was known that the C-54 carried 37 men, 30 of whom were in two life rafts equipped with radios, rations and flares.

Stotts placed the scene at about 52 miles southwest of the point where the transport reported it was ditching because of engine trouble. (Turn to Page Three)

Number Dead In Chinese Ship Disaster Is Placed At 9,200

Shanghai, Dec. 6.—(P)—A belated report disclosed that possibly 9,000 Chinese died in the explosion and sinking of a crowded evacuation ship off southern Manchuria early last month.

That would bring to 9,200 the number of Chinese estimated to have lost their lives in this and a similar disaster near Shanghai Friday night involving the overcrowded steamer Kiangya.

The Manchurian sinking would rank as probably the greatest single ship tragedy. Official sources in Nanking made it known only yesterday. They said the boiler burst aboard an unidentified merchant ship evacuating troops of the government's 52nd Army from Ying-kow. The explosion set off ammunition, all on board were killed.

The Kiangya, a 10,000-ton steamship, was carrying 10,000 Chinese, 536 passengers and crew members were known to have been rescued from the Kiangya, which it operated. Nearly 4,000 refugees were believed to have been aboard, about 200 bodies have been recovered.

After inspecting the shattered hull, a diver reported the damage to the Kiangya was too great to have been caused by a time bomb or an exploding boiler. There was belief here the 2,099-ton ship hit a World War II mine.

It was the blackest weekend in the current hurried evacuation of war-threatened areas.

Twenty-five Chinese, mostly women and children, were killed in the crash of a transport plane on Formosa. In Shanghai, another transport plane crashed at the airport, killing 13 persons.

At Wushu, 90 miles west of Shanghai, eight were reported killed when a bus and a train collided.

PRIEST BADLY HURT

Ridgway, Dec. 6.—(P)—The Rev. George M. Hickey, 34-year-old former state chaplain of the American Legion, was reported in "still critical" condition today at Ridgway Hospital. Father Hickey, pastor of St. Leo's R. C. church here, suffered a possible fractured skull and other injuries in an auto collision Saturday.

Boy Finds What He Can Do With Electricity

Port Washington, N. Y., Dec. 6.—(P)—Ten-year-old Tom Wing bounced down stairs at 5:50 a. m. and yelled "Fire."

An aura of burnt chicken feathers trailed after him, and he clutched a scorching hand.

His father ran up and splashed a glass of water over Tom's pillow and bed, which were blazing merrily.

"I knew I shouldn't have done it," he explained tearfully, "but I was testing the Christmas tree lights in bed last night before I went to sleep. I thought I had disconnected them."

On the floor of his room was a box titled: What a Boy Can Do With Electricity.

Military Aid To China Runs Below Turkey

Washington, Dec. 6.—(P)—American military aid to China is running somewhat under one-third of that to Greece and Turkey.

This became known today with estimates from government sources that fighting equipment valued at about $83,000,000 has been delivered to Chiang Kai-Shek's hard-pressed armies in the last year and a half.

During roughly the same period, the United States shipped arms and other military supplies worth $230,000,000 to Greece and Turkey under the Truman doctrine.

How successful China may be in its desperate efforts to narrow the ratio of American aid to the two Communist-menaced areas remains to be seen.

Those efforts currently are being pressed by Mme. Chiang, wife of the Generalissimo, who flew here last Wednesday. China's first lady due to meet President and Mrs. Truman early this week to voice her informal appeal for greater help from this country.

Chinese authorities here say the program she is proposing would cost the United States about $1,000,000,000 a year over the next three years.

That would be a big jump from the $400,000,000 Congress voted for China earlier this year and would far outstrip the two-year, $625,000,000 Greek-Turkish program.

Of this year's China fund, $275,000,000 was earmarked for economic assistance and $125,000,000 was made available for arms help.

GOLF PRO STRICKEN

Ligonier, Dec. 6.—(P)—A heart attack suffered a week earlier proved fatal Saturday to Dan O'Keefe, 32-year-old pro at the Ligonier Country Club the past four years. O'Keefe, who is survived by a widow and a three-month old daughter, had planned to become pro of the Bradford Country Club in the spring.

SHRINER DIES

Altoona, Dec. 6.—(P)—John C. Scholl, retired production superintendent of the former Penn Central Light & Power Co. (now the Pennsylvania Electric Co.) died yesterday. He was about 70. Scholl was a past potentate of Jaffa Shrine. His widow and a son survive. The funeral will be tomorrow.

JURY TO GET EVIDENCE OF SPY NETWORK

Definite and Shocking Proof of Communist Activities Secured By Committee

IS RESUMING HEARING

New York, Dec. 6.—(P)—Whittaker Chambers, self-styled former member of the Communist party in America, testified today before a special grand jury investigating subversive activities.

Alger Hiss, former state department official, awaited a call to appear before the panel.

The two men arrived within minutes of each other at the federal building and took places in the grand jury witness rooms.

Shortly afterwards, Chambers, a time magazine senior editor, testified. Hiss sat in the ante-room awaiting his call.

A subpoena calling Hiss before the jury was disclosed after the arrival of a House Un-American Activities Committee with copies of secret documents found on Chambers' Westminster, Md., farm last Thursday.

The outside man was Whittaker Chambers, now a Time Magazine editor who admits he was a courier for the Communist underground in Washington before he broke with the Reds in 1938.

The committee is hanging on to another set of copies of the documents, for when it starts its own spy hearings going again tomorrow—but perhaps behind closed doors.

The prints were made from microfilm obtained by subpoena from Chambers last week. At that time, Chambers had them cached in a hollow pumpkin on his Maryland farm.

Chambers has said these particular documents never reached the Russians because he got them while he was in the process of splitting with the Reds.

Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the House committee, has said the hearings starting tomorrow will establish who fed the papers to Chambers from the State Department.

The committee regards those hearings as so important that it enlisted the help of the coast guard and the navy to bring one of its members back from a ship at sea.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) was en route to Panama aboard the S. S. Panama. A coast guard plane flew from St. Petersburg, Fla., to a dramatic rendezvous at Akins Island, south of Jamaica.

Nixon transferred to the plane, and it flew the 475 miles to Miami. There he boarded a navy transport for the hop to Washington.

Immediately after his arrival last night Nixon went into a huddle with Stripling to go over the documents. His first reaction was that they are "so damnably important" it may not be possible to make them public.

Stripling already had shown the (Turn to Page Three)

Two Jap Officials Granted Hearings

Washington, Dec. 6.—(P)—The supreme court by a 5-4 vote today granted a hearing to two Japanese wartime officials convicted as war criminals and sentenced to be hanged.

The court's action was made known in an opinion by Justice Jackson. He said he had agreed with Justices Black, Douglas, Murphy and Rutledge that the two Japanese should have a high court hearing.

It meant a contrary view was held by Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Frankfurter, and Burton.

The appeals were filed on behalf of General Kenji Dohihara and Kokki Hirota, former premier of Japan.

The appeals challenged legality of trials conducted by the international military tribunal at Tokyo.

After the appeals were filed here last Monday, General MacArthur announced that execution of the sentences given Dohihara and Hirota and of five other condemned Japanese war makers would be deferred pending supreme court action.

None of the five others filed appeals. Among them is wartime Premier Hideki Tojo.

The humid climate caused a respiratory trouble which retarded her recovery.

The couple sent their four-year-old daughter, Judy, to relatives in Oklahoma. Then they started on their difficult auto trip.

Through arrangements with the Paralysis Foundation for Infants, Paralysis, nightly stops were made at places where she could be placed in an iron lung.

The couple reached Denver Oct. 29 after stops at Pittsburgh, Dayton, Springfield, Ill., Kansas City and Salina, Kas.

Doctors said Mrs. McKenna was "utterly exhausted" on her arrival. They rushed her to an iron lung at the Colorado General Hospital.

Blockaded Berlin Slaps Communists With 1,330,820 Votes Against Soviet Policies

Find 'Startling New Evidence' in Hiss-Chambers Case

Investigators of the House Un-American Activities Committee are shown in Washington as they examined microfilm records taken from a hollowed-out pumpkin on the Maryland farm of Whittaker Chambers, ex-Communist spy and now a senior editor of Time Magazine. These records were said to provide "startling new evidence" of leakage of State Department documents to a Red spy ring prior to 1938, and are expected to rekindle the argument between Chambers and Alger Hiss, former State Department official accused by Chambers of engaging in prewar spying activities. Seated (left to right) are: Lewis J. Russell, Louisville, Ky., and Robert Stripling, chief investigator. Standing (left to right) are William A. Wheeler, Ventura, Calif.; Robert Gaston, Passaic, N. J.; Donald Appell, Baltimore, Md., and C. E. McKillips.

Suchow Garrison Encircled In Developing Nanking Battle

Nanking, Dec. 6.—(P)—The Chinese Communist radio reported tonight that Red forces had completed "an air-tight encirclement" of the Nationalist former Suchow garrison in the developing battle for Nanking.

The garrison, comprising some 110,000 combat troops in the 16th, 13th and Second Army Groups, abandoned Suchow last Wednesday in an effort to reach the trapped government 12th Army Group in the Sushan sector, about 45 miles to the south.

If the Communist claim is true, it means that only the government troops on the new Hwai river defense line enjoy freedom of movement in the region. The line, was set up recently 100 miles northeast of Nanking, but is manned by relatively inferior troops.

Red columns had been reporting shifting to the west to try to stop the force from Suchow. Communist Gen. Chen Yi was said to have massed 125,000 troops across the path of the Suchow forces.

Foreign military observers said the Suchow troops—largest government force in all east China—must break through the Reds or face annihilation. Having destroyed huge supply depots in the evacuation of Suchow, the troops are carrying only limited supplies.

The battle probably will be decisive, in any event. The immediate future of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government is regarded as hinging on developments here. (Turn to Page Three)

Body of Lost Hunter Found By A Woman

DuBois, Dec. 6.—(P)—The body of a 78-year-old deer hunter missing since the season opened a week ago today was found yesterday by a woman who refused the $1,000 reward offered only a few hours earlier.

The body of Ray H. Richards, Brookville contractor, was found half submerged in a swamp a few miles from his hunting camp. It was discovered by Marion E. Brooks of Rexford, who was among scores of volunteers trying to find some trace of the veteran hunter.

The three rifle shots which signified the end of the intensive search were fired into the air by Ray H. Richards, Jr., son of the victim. He had offered the $1,000 reward on Saturday night.

State police said the elderly man, who had hunted in the Clearfield-Elk county region the past 35 years, apparently had followed a deer and then suffered a heart attack. The lower part of his body was in the water.

EIGHT OVERCOME BY FUMES IN AMBRIDGE

Ambridge, Dec. 6.—(P)—At least eight persons were overcome and more than a score of others were made ill by carbon monoxide fumes yesterday at the Ambridge Lithuanian Club.

About 30 persons walked from the building after one victim, a child, had been overcome. Firemen and hastily summoned physicians furnished first aid but only one required hospitalization.

Police St. Walter Rosiak said the gas leaked from a heater. Assistant Fire Chief William Kroll ordered the club closed pending an investigation.

Exiled President Lands At Havana

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 6.—(P)—Romulo Gallegos, exiled president of Venezuela blamed big business and foreign oil interests for causing the military coup which ousted him.

He arrived here yesterday by plane as a political exile. Gallegos, 64, former school teacher and novelist, was the first Venezuelan president elected by popular vote. Elected a year ago, his government was ousted by a military junta Nov. 24.

In the background of the bloodless revolt were "powerful forces of Venezuelan capital lacking in social awareness, and also those of foreign capital, exploiters of the wealth of our soil," he said.

Since the coup he had been held prisoner. He was well treated, he said, but other cabinet members arrested along with him still are in jail "and most of them are being mistreated and tortured," Gallegos stated.

Hsi captors told him he could not go to Cuba where he was offered asylum, he said. However, the pilot of his plane agreed to land him in this country.

Santa Claus Helper Held In Slaying of Two Elderly Men

Colorado Springs, Colo., Dec. 6.—(P)—A janitor, arrested in a Santa Claus workshop, will be returned to Pennsylvania to face charges of murdering two elderly men.

Denver FBI Agent Russell P. Kramer reported the man, John W. Givens, 51, said he will not fight extradition.

He was arrested Saturday on a tip from Los Angeles by a man who saw Givens' photograph on a postoffice bulletin board. He has been working as a janitor for the Salvation Army and helping out on Christmas preparations.

Edwards Lines To Resume Service

Williamsport, Dec. 6.—(P)—All bus service on the 1,300 miles of Edwards Lakes-To-Seas bus system will be resumed tomorrow at 6 a. m. for the first time in 22 days, J. Wesley Edwards, company president, said last night.

Edwards said he had been formally notified by Oscar R. Nepper, president of the local AFL union, that the 150 striking drivers and mechanics had accepted a third company offer to return to work.

The drivers and mechanics approved the offer at meetings Saturday night both here and in DuBois, Nepper said.

Program Planned To Improve State Schools

Sandy Lake, Dec. 6.—(P)—The Legislature convening next month will be asked to pass legislation to "enable Pennsylvania to do a better rehabilitation job on youthful offenders."

That's what Rep. Jeannette Dye (R-Mercer), said yesterday as she released a report of a special legislative committee which has investigated the state's training schools.

The report was critical of the operation of most of the schools, with Morgantown being hit especially.

"There exists at (Morgantown) every opportunity for a boy to receive a better education in crime," the report said.

Palm Springs Worst Hit In Latest Quake

Los Angeles, Dec. 6.—(P)—Southern California's latest earthquake was just a matter of conversation today.

At that, the topic only shared talk with the USC-Notre Dame 14-14 football thriller that ended a few minutes before the first shock was felt Saturday.

Palm Springs seemed to be the worst hit in the quake area. Two broken legs were reported there. Broken window panes, dishes, bottles formed the bulk of the wreckage. A 5,800-gallon water tank split open, and plaster cracked.

ELECTION SWEEPS SOCIALISTS INTO POWER IN WESTERN PART OF OCCUPIED GERMAN CAPITAL

Berlin, Dec. 6.—(P)—A final count showed today blockaded Berliners slapped the Communists with 1,330,820 votes, each one a protest against Soviet occupation policies.

The Central Election Bureau said 86.2 per cent of the eligible voters cast valid ballots yesterday in the three western sectors for the regularly scheduled city elections, which the Communists boycotted.

The vote swept the Socialist party into power in the western part of the city. Like the Christian Democrats and the Liberal Democrats, who ran second and third, the Socialists are anti-Communist.

The final results: Social Democrats (Socialist)—558,100 (64.5 per cent.) Christian Democrats (Conservative)—255,496 (18.4 per cent.) Liberal Democrats (Conservative)—214,224 (16.1 per cent.)

In all, 1,586,090 Germans were eligible to vote in the constitutionally prescribed election in the three sectors, under American, British and French control. The Russians refused to conduct or permit voting in their sector. In voting the western Berliners defied a variety of threats from the Communists.

Polling stations reported finding 36,321 spoiled ballots, which left the valid vote at 1,203,938 so far.

Although the Communists had urged either a boycott of the polls or spoiling ballots, election officials said the number actually rendered invalid was not unusual.

The voters balloted for representatives in the city and borough assemblies. They voted for the party of their choice. Each party received seats in the assemblies in proportion to the share of total votes. The assemblies are named by party executive committees.

Anti-Communist leaders regarded every ballot as a vote against Russian occupation policies.

The 84 per cent figure of eligible voters who cast ballots was doubly significant. Even if all non-voters were Communists—which is not likely—they could not have polled more than 13.6 per cent of the total. In 1946 Communists polled 19 per cent of the vote.

The Soviet military command had forbidden the election in its sector of Berlin. The Russians set up a "rump" Communist government of their own in the city last week.

German Communists had refused to be on the ballot and threatened revenge against all who dared vote.

German leaders of all three anti-Soviet parties united in calling the election a plebiscite for freedom versus Kremlin-style dictatorship. The Russians called it an election for "chaos and famine."

The Social Democrats who demand socialization of Germany along the lines followed by the labor party in England, scored possibly the greatest victory in the 80-year history of their party.

They emerged with an absolute majority which gives them working control of the next city and borough governments under western administration.

The Socialist triumph assured the selection of Ernst Reuter, outspoken anti-Red, as Berlin's Lord Mayor. Reuter was vetoed for mayor by the Russian military commander in 1947.

Weatherman Interferes With Weekend Plans of Alias Santa

The color was gone from Alias Santa Claus' usually ruddy cheeks today when he eased himself through the front door of the Times-Mirror and dropped into his swivel chair.

"Good morning," the office staff greeted him. "Have you had breakfast yet?"

"Please don't mention food again," Alias Santa groaned. "I've got butterflies in my tummy."

Then seeing the knowing looks on the faces of his fellow workers, Alias quickly added:

"It's not what you think. It's the weather I feel like asking Old Saint Nick himself to cross the Weatherman off his Christmas list."

"I had planned to tour the country area over the week end and to check up on a lot of worthy families who will need a helping hand in the way of warm clothing, shoes and toys this Christmas. But what happens Saturday morning was so foggy they wouldn't let me take my plane off the ground at the airport. And yesterday, well I got into the city all right, but that high wind buffeted me around like I was a feather. Whoops, was I ever seasick."

With that Alias Santa Claus plopped a big brown pill into his mouth, and made a wry face. Later, he was his old jolly self—but we'll let you in on a secret. It wasn't the pill that did the trick. It was the good tidings brought by the mailman in the form of two contributions for his Christmas Cheer fund that pepped him up.

An envelope from Tim and Tom Whitener contained two dollars, while the second, sent by another cousin of the big Anonymous family, contained three dollars.

"Looks like the good people of the Warren district are beginning to get the Christmas spirit," Alias Santa smiled happily.

Three Aboard Plane Missing After Leaving Jamestown

Jamestown, N. Y., Dec. 6.—(P)—A General Motors executive and two Dayton, Ohio, women in a private airplane were sought to plane.

The plane vanished after leaving here late Saturday afternoon. It was piloted by W. J. Blanchard, 48-year-old general manager of GM's Aero Products Division at Dayton. Passengers were Miss Victoria John, 29, and Miss Betty Charles, division employees.

Air Force officials assigned Air Rescue Service planes based at Westover Field, Mass., and Selfridge Field, Mich., to the search along a path including parts of New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Ohio.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority asked private pilots in the four states to be on the lookout for Blanchard's silver and green four-place Navion.

Dayton was believed the plane's destination. Blanchard had been in Buffalo on business and the women had been visiting relatives of Miss Johnson here.

Marshall Johnson said his sister and Miss Charles arrived here in Blanchard's plane Saturday morning. Blanchard flew on to Buffalo, returned here and left without filing a flight plan.

Mrs. Blanchard became alarmed when her husband did not arrive in Dayton.

ARE YOU TURNING YOUR BACK ON MODERN HOME APPLIANCES?

Many women are. Others are rebelling. "Why," they say, "should we slave over dishes, scrub and iron clothes and push an old-fashioned carpet sweeper, when electrical appliances will do the job for us better, quicker, easier? So what do they do? They shop around for what they need, then come here for a Community Consumer Discount Loan. Result, a transformed home with obsolete equipment gone and modern appliances—easily paid for out of income—substituted.

You can do the same. Any or several of the following can be financed at low cost: washing machine, dishwasher, ironer, vacuum cleaner, radio, television, refrigerator, range, home freezer, food mixer, toaster. Let us hear from you. Telephone if you cannot call.

State Hospital Patient Hangs By Sheet Hem

Mrs. Dorothy Mayhoff, 57, a patient admitted to the Warren State Hospital from Cleveland, last November 26th, took her own life by hanging in her room in the Stone Building Saturday evening, an investigation made by Coroner Ed C. Lowrey and Sheriff L. E. Linder revealed.

Mrs. Mayhoff was brought to the institution following an attempt to take her own life by swallowing lye two days before being brought here. Despite the close vigilance of hospital nurses and attendants Saturday evening she tore a hem from a sheet on her bed, fastened one end around her neck and the other to the bed, after which she rolled to the floor in such manner as to break her neck.

She was a resident of Smith Mill, Clearfield county, and is survived by seven children.

The investigation revealed that but a moment before the tragedy was discovered a nurse had looked in the room and Mrs. Mayhoff was in bed and apparently feigning sleep.

Operators Of Sawmills End Annual School

The school for sawmill operators sponsored annually by the Irwin Manufacturing Co. has just been concluded.

The sessions were held under the auspices of the National Hardwood Lumber Association.

This year's instructor was the association's assistant chief inspector, Earl S. Swartzbach. Inspection, grading and how to get the best cuts out of a log were the themes for this year's school.

Twenty-five operators from as far away as Virginia and Quebec attended the instructions. In addition to class discussions and practical demonstrations, movies of western logging operations were shown. Conferences were held each morning and afternoon at the Garland community house, donated to the village by Harold G. Irwin, Sr., president of the company. Luncheons were served daily in the same building by the women of Garland.

The dinner marking the close of the session was highlighted by an informative talk by C. L. Kinney, executive of Allegheny National Forest.

Savings Bonds Volunteers Come from All Walks of Life

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Here are four types of Americans who have one thing in common, their recognition of the fact that it is just as important to help sell United States Savings Bonds now as it was in wartime. Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder singled out these four citizens as representative of tens of thousands of Americans who are serving as Savings Bonds volunteers.

Sheffield Hi To Give Play Tuesday Night

Sheffield, Dec. 6—The Sheffield High School dramatic club play, "A Little Honey", will be presented on Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium. The cast of the three-act comedy includes Nancy Miller, Jim McElhatten, Jerry Newburg, Barbara Ritchie, Frances Gora, Shirley Ledebur, Loretta Likens, Joyce Vashaw, Mary Slater, Paul Gustafson, and Donald Pratt.

Mrs. L. O. Eisenhauer is the director of the play, with Mrs. Loren Wright in charge of the staging; stage managers, Jesse Johnson and Eddie Eisenhauer; promoters, Donna Henry and Shirley Cunningham; property manager, Gloria Phillips. A matinee for the school children was given this afternoon.

The WSCS of the Methodist church will hold its annual Christmas party and tureen dinner Tuesday at the church. The theme for discussion will be "Then Shall the Earth Yield Her Increase". It is especially requested by the president that every member make an effort to be present. Devotionals will be led by Mrs. Fred M. Carlson and the program will be in charge of Mrs. Jay Catlin. Members of the hostess committee will be Mrs. John Burns, Mrs. F. O. Reed, and Mrs. E. D. Hulse. There will be an exchange of 50-cent gifts. A main item of business will be a discussion of the tea, bazaar, and bake sale to be held Thursday at the church.

RETURN FROM FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Ryden have returned from Erie where they attended the funeral of the latter's mother, Mrs. Dora E. Fritz, widow of Harry E. Fritz, who died in Hamor Hospital that city, after a brief illness. Services were held in Erie and interment followed in Waterford, Conn.

RELIEF FRAUDS

According to an announcement by the Department of Public Assistance in a bulletin issued today, 153 Pennsylvanians were convicted of defrauding the Commonwealth by receiving assistance grants for which they were not eligible during the first nine months of 1948. The frauds were perpetrated, the department said, by concealing information which would effect their eligibility and the amount received totaled $55,628. A total of 422 complaints were filed, but in many instances a settlement was reached before the case came to trial. Restitution collections totaled $320,000.

MOTOR LICENSE PAYMENTS

Auditor General G. Harold Wagner has approved payment of the quarterly distribution from the motor license fund which go to cities, boroughs, and first and second class townships in the state. Municipalities in Warren county will receive the following amounts: Bear Lake, $159.56; Clarendon, $143.90; Sugar Grove, $303.45; Tidubute, $39.53; Warren, $289.66; Youngsville, $394.49; Brokenstraw, $1216.69; Cherry Grove, $93.40; Columbus, $140.64; Conewango, $340.61; Corydon, $112.63; Deer, $580.46; Eldred, $1017.26; Elk, $749.96; Farmington, $1340.04; Freshold, $1280.57; Glade, $481.57; Kinzua, $140.10; Limestone, $263.72; Pine Grove, $300.20; Pittsfield, $792.54; Pleasant, $368.23; Sheffield, $344.49; Southwest, $771.94; Spring Creek, $1403.77; Sugar Grove, $1604.31; Triumph, $730.73; Watson, $8.24.

Santa Claus Village Displayed in Window

Anyone interested in seeing where and how Santa Claus lives when he is at home in the bosom of his family should look in Warren Bank and Trust Company's window on Second avenue. On the words of Elton W. Davis, who made the models and painted the landscape, and of Mrs. Raymond W. Steber, who furnished the figures, what appears there is a faithful reproduction of Santa Claus' Village as it looks during the dull season. His church, his workshop, his home and the barn where the reindeer live are all shown to scale. Here, too, is what will later be the world's busiest postoffice. Santa himself is the only figure in a hurry. He hustles in on skis, doubtless for a sandwich and a cup of coffee before taking off again. The rest of the animals and humans seem to be taking things pretty easy, probably building up their strength for what's ahead of them.

dollars isn't a heck of a lot of money to pay for a good winter coat—providing you get a good winter coat . . . but the cold and bitter fact is that not any old store will give you a good coat for $35 . . . There's one store that will give a dandy all wool weighty coat for $35 . . . and your guess is right it's MILLER'S.

Yoke treatments, cuff in a varied choice, Barrymore collars . . . the styles—the fabrics that all America has accepted — look at coats costing 5.00 to 15.00 more than these.

There's More to An Ad Than Reading It!

Here are the necessary steps to reproducing an ad in the Times-Mirror:

1. After the Ad Man has sold the ad it must be properly laid out and scheduled.
2. It goes to the mark up man who marks the type sizes and styles on it.
3. The Linotype operators set all the machine type.
4. The printer sets the hand type.
5. The compositor puts all the pieces together. Proofs it.
6. The proof reader makes the necessary corrections.
7. The floor man sets it in the page forms.
8. The stereotyper rolls a mat of the complete page form.
9. The press room boys make a round cast of this page.
10. Put it on the press . . . start the press . . . clean out the nigger heads and sinks on the page.
11. Now the paper is ready for the circulation department . . . it goes either to the newsboy or the Post Office.

Here Mr. Merchant is the reason why we at the Times-Mirror must have your copy not later than 2 P. M. two days before publication . . .

May we have your co-operation

FRANCO OUT ON LIMB

James A. Farley has returned from Europe with the conviction that we ought to establish diplomatic relations with Franco Spain. And he told the Overseas Press Club in New York that on his recent tour he didn't meet "any person of any importance" who disagreed with him.

The former postmaster general blames "a group in the State Department" for our present policy. He thinks that since we disregarded Communism in making a defensive wartime alliance with Russia, we should make a similar arrangement with Franco with an equal disregard of his unsavory regime.

"It's difficult for the Spanish people to understand our attitude," Mr. Farley said. "They can't see why we are spending billions of dollars in Germany and Italy, our war-time enemies, and yet are unfriendly enough to bar Spain from non-military conferences on health and aviation."

Our attitude may puzzle Mr. Farley and the important people who agree with him as much as it does the Spaniards. But American policy really isn't such a mystery.

The billions we are spending in Germany and Italy are not marks of sentimental friendliness. They are being spent for two reasons. The recovery of these two important but war-devastated countries is necessary to European recovery. And they also must be strengthened and supported against the encroachment of postwar Communism.

But the Germans and Italians are not being included in non-military conferences on health and aviation or other international discussions.

America's first objective in World War II was to destroy Fascism in Europe. With our allies we succeeded in ridding the world of Hitler and Mussolini. We did not eliminate Franco because he was technically "neutral." And he remained neutral because, in his weak and vulnerable position, his pro-Axis non-belligerence was more valuable than active participation.

But Franco was and still is a Fascist. His only possible political tie with us is that he apparently hates Communism even more than he hates democracy.

Mr. Farley's argument for accepting Spain as a defensive ally, just as we did Russia, seems hardly valid. We made a pact with the Soviets as a result of Hitler's declaration of war on both countries. It would have been folly for either to have sided with Germany against the other. If Russia and the West had not joined forces, Hitler would never have been defeated by May, of 1945, and tens of thousands more lives would have been sacrificed.

We are not at war today. And if war with Russia should come there would be only one place for Spain to go. Geographically—and by a process of elimination, politically—her place is with the West. There is no reason why we must court Franco. If Spain is in danger of Russian invasion he will have to make bases available to us to save himself.

Mr. Farley has perhaps forgotten one thing. There was a certain idealism in America's fight against Fascism. And there are a lot of Americans—important ones, too—who don't like Fascism any better than Communism, or any better than they liked it in 1941, even though it is no threat to world peace today.

Rep. Hugh Scott, the GOP national chairman, has outlined a new plan of action for Republicans following last month's defeat. They are not to adopt a more liberal program of the 80th Congress. They are to launch an all-out campaign to discredit the "radical spendthrifts" and "demagogues" of the Truman administration. But boys, wasn't that what you were doing just before the roof caved in on Nov. 2?

Entries for the Outdoor Christmas Home Decorating contest should be into the office of the sponsor, the Chamber of Commerce, Warren Bank and Trust Company building by Wednesday afternoon of this week. The first seven residences judged the best by a committee named for this purpose, will receive cash prizes totalling $150. Better get your entries in at once. Judging will start some time after December 13th.

Seems as though it is quite difficult for some folks to get the real Christmas spirit until after the first real snow storm.

The first week of the deer season passed without serious accident in this area. Let's hope it continues through this week.

Here And There

This and That: J. Scott Smith, publisher of the Kane Republican, was in the office for a chat Friday afternoon and during the visit we took occasion to congratulate him personally on a 36-page Christmas edition that appeared last Thursday. He tells us that "Jockey" Lawson, one of the Linotype operators at the Newell Press, helped them out for two weeks in getting out the record issue. Our felicitations to John Newell, founder of the Newell Press, one of the largest and most modernly equipped job shops in the state, who last week was given a dinner on the occasion of his fiftieth anniversary of his starting in the job printing business in Warren — incidentally John recalls that he has been a printer for sixty years. . . . A Christmas buying rush two weeks early by normal standards, according to press associations, ushered in Pennsylvania's annual $6,000,000 sale of Christmas trees and holiday greens. The State Department of Forests and Waters estimates that 2,260,000 trees will be cut from Penns Woods by December 25 for Christmas trees and the sale of branches. Among the early Christmas tree merchants to open up his stand is Arthur Mahaffey, who has already started business at the Salvation Army building. . . . Greetings to Ambrose Giegerich, pioneer resident of the West Side, who will be lighting candles on a birthday cake tomorrow. . . . "Keep your hand on that purse or pocket-book," is the advice of police officials. This is the time when many people put their money in purses but in the excitement of looking at Christmas merchandise that will become a present for a relative or friend, put the purses on the counter and walk off without them. . . . That combination of murky fog and darkness during the early morning hours Saturday had traffic almost halted, in valleys of this area, and forced hunters to delay activities in the woods until almost ten o'clock, although it is reported that the hilltops were clear. Fortunately no accidents were reported. This column was in error in reference to the opening of the trapping season for beavers. Instead of the season opening "this Wednesday," as stated, it opened Wednesday, December first, and continues for one month.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN
Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1928 Frank Kesley, well known Pleasant township man, was painfully injured when he was thrown from the seat of a buggy in Titusville after an automobile had crashed into the rear of the rig. . . . Announcement was made of the sale of the Weigle Motor Sales, 700 Pennsylvania avenue, east, to R. E. Elliott of Buffalo. . . . A hunter, tramping through the woods between Ludlow and Royston, discovered the skeleton of a man. Authorities found no clues as to his identity. . . . Hal Lewis, Glenn Brockway and Lewis Jamieson, Warren residents interested in establishing an airport here, attended the international airship exposition in Chicago. . . . A section of Liberty street was flooded when a large water main broke at the intersection of Liberty and Fifth avenue. . . . Warren Lodge of Odd Fellows donated $65 to the Lodge's home at Meadville following their annual coin jug breaking ceremonies.

In 1938 N. A. Newton, regional sales manager of the National Transit Pump and Machine Company, retired after 40 years of service with the firm. . . . Elected as directors for the Marcom Social Club were Ross Bevevino, Joe Bevevino, Casper Scalise, Jr., Louis Critelli and Frank Williams. . . . Robert Nelson and Marcel Bergquist, both of Ludlow Boy Scout Troop 42, qualified for their Eagle badges at an advanced Board of Review. . . . Bud Jeannette sunk a field goal in the last 10 seconds of an overtime period to give the Warren Penns a 38-37 win over Oshkosh, Wis., in the National Basketball League. . . . Three From Youngsville Hurt In Crash

Mrs. Gwendolyn Mariner, of Youngsville, suffered a broken right wrist, and passengers in her car, Mrs. Margie Finlan and Arlene Mott, also, of Youngsville, were injured Saturday afternoon at 3:25 o'clock in an accident involving a car operated by Robert L. Frick, Lawrence Park, Erie, about four miles east of Corry on Route 6.

According to Corry state police, Frick was traveling west and he told the police that he was blinded by the sun and swerved to the left side of the road. Damage to the Mariner car was estimated by police at $600 and to the Erie car about $200. Frick was arrested for failure to yield one-half of the highway.

The Youngsville ladies were brought to the office of Dr. Tom Gettings in Youngsville from where Mrs. Mariner was taken to Warren General Hospital. She was discharged from the hospital Sunday morning following treatment for her broken wrist. Mrs. Finlan received lacerations of the left knee and Miss Mott received bruises about the legs. Frick was uninjured.

Auto Breaks Off Pole At Irvine Curve

State police were called to the curve at Irvine, just west of the railroad tracks on Route 6 about 1:15 o'clock Saturday morning when a car operated by Frank J. Stein, Jr., 1149 Eleventh street, Erie, missed the right turn and broke off a telephone pole before landing in the hollow beside the road.

Stein and a passenger, Robert Smith, also of Erie, were only slightly injured, receiving bruised noses. Damage to Stein's car was estimated by police at $480. The car was traveling toward Warren at the time of the accident.

Police had no sooner returned to their barracks when another call was received from the same spot. A second car missed the curve, but police did not investigate because of the fact that there were no injuries and the car was not damaged. The same wrecker which took care of the first accident was dispatched to pull out the second car. Driver of the second car is not known.

Lacy Brownies And Scouts In Fine Program

The auditorium at Lacy school was well filled with PTA members, parents and friends who gathered for the special Girl Scout program.

Troop 64 opened the program with a flag ceremony in which Nancy Buchanan, and Mary O'Dell served as flag bearers. Jo Anne Andrews and Margaret McComas as color guards. The flag salute was followed by singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

The following Brownies from Troop 44 flew-up in a very impressive ceremony to Troop 4, Virginia Gungulus, leader, received them into the troop: Myrna Hansen, Kay Nieman, Toni Brooker, Jean Simonsen, Martha Nuffer, Sally Dickerson, Marilyn Eames, Gail Nessel, Dorothy Mathyer, Beth Proukoff. Pauline Bloss was received as a new recruit.

Twelve new Brownies were invested around the Magic Pool and received into Troop 44: Carol Olson, Ruth Stenberg, Sandra Shine, Janice Larson, Carol Berglund, Delores Gelotte, Gretchen Morse, Rose Marie Cumbert, Erma Rickerson, Nancy Taylor, Joan Hall, Lois Henry. Nadine Kifer and Susan Nieman were unable to be present because of illness.

Members of Troop 4 seen in a pretty little Swiss dance were Dorothy Baker, Janet Lauffer, Margaret McComas, Deanne Swanson, Mary Watt, Carol Jensen.

Expressman's Tale Of Many Cities In The United States

Unusual names of cities in the United States are common to most expressmen, but sometimes the Christmas season is responsible for turning up a greater variety than ever seen before, said R. P. Gilmore, local agent of the Warren Railway Express office.

"Why it's possible to tell a story using the names of those cities," he said. "For example, take Christmas HOLLIDAY (Texas), which Frenchmen CALL (Texas) NOEL (Mo.).

It's a LIVERY (Va.) time of year, which ONLEY (Va.) takes place in WINTER (Wisc.) and is MANN'S CHOICE (Pa.) to EX-CHANGE (W. Va.) a BLESSING (Texas) with a FRIEND (Nebr.). The PROMISED LAND (N. Y.) yields up a BOUNTIFUL (Utah) supply of TURKEY (N. C.) which the HUNTER (Kans.) gets with his RIFLE (Colo.). BUTTIE (Mont.) the NOVICE (Texas) ARCHER (Fla.) no KETCHUM (Ida.) with BROKEN BOW (Nebr.).

ALGOOD (Tenn.) things happen in those WEEKS (La.). The FARMER (S.D.) and the COOK (Minn.) ORR (N.D.) JASPER (Tenn.), the BUTLER (Ga.), EX-CHANGE (W. Va.) Deafened People May Now Hear Clearly
Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionships. Accepted by the Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltona, Dept. 6, 1450 West 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. CHAPTER 4

LOTTIE drew herself up. "Don't expect me to cook. I'm going now."

"You can't, darlin'. We won't let you go. You have to help us out. You look prettier than any picture in the wide world. Every time I see you I want to rub my eyes and say only the good Lord can understand how you belong to us. But I can't talk. I gotta run and talk Mulrooney out of the best grub in the store. Here's the hook, Florrie. Use it on her if she tries to run away. Come on, Tuffy. Off we go."

Lottie's face was burning. "This is disgraceful! This is—"

"Sure it is. All that and more. Now open the window so you can cool off before Joe gets here. Then we're gonna have the big fun. Imagine Rosalie comin' back home, and her gone just a week today. They musta come back to New York for their honeymoon. And I ask you, don't millions do it every year? Now there's a gentleman that is a gentleman, and rich as a nabob."

"I must say I'd be ashamed to push my dying mother into a hospital and run off to marry a stranger just because he was rich."

Lottie fairly sniffed. Mrs. Monahan waved Pat's hook and it slipped. It crashed through the window pane beside her and fell out into the street. A passing old woman looked up and blinked.

"Is it throwin' the house out of the window y'are, Florrie Monahan?"

The fat woman drew a deep breath. "I needed air in a hurry, Mrs. Feeney."

It was getting dark, the thin late snow was turning into silvery arrows against the dusk. And Joe came dashing in, almost tripping Mrs. Feeney in his excitement. He stood panting just inside the door. His eyes were shining.

"Rosalie. She's back. She's home, Ma."

"O' course she's back. She and her Wayne had to have a honeymoon, didn't they? Don't everybody have to come to New York for a honeymoon, even them fancy movie stars? Kiss your sister or she'll think you're as potty as the rest of us."

"If you think I'm staying you're very much mistaken. Mother. I merely dropped in to tell you I am putting Terence into a proper school so he can forget he ever saw this street or anyone on it."

Joe caught her arm roughly and swung her around. "Don't talk like that to Ma or I'll slap you to sleep."

She shook off his hand. "You told me, you—your thing, and I'll put the police onto you. You're so brave, aren't you, when it comes to threatening defenseless women?"

Their mother roared. "Get me up and stop squabbling. This is a big night, Joe, will you stop looking at the window and pull me up."

He heaved her to her feet. Only he and Pat could do it just right. He helped her walk, his arm about her—at least part way around her waist.

She leaned on him. "Boy, it's a grand night for us. Think of it!"

He spoke softly as they walked through the string of bedrooms.

"Ma, I don't think I want to see Rosalie—and her husband."

"Well, maybe she just come herself. We haven't seen him. We—"

They both stopped dead and stared. Rosalie was standing in the dining room. They could barely make her out in the darkness. Mrs. Monahan didn't cry out. She sensed something and held out her arms.

"Come to me heart, darlin', and let me hold you."

Rosalie never moved. "I came over the roof, Mrs. Monahan. I knew everyone would run to talk to me in the street. I can't come to supper. I—I'm running away. I just came for some old clothes. I thought I could slip into the house and get away unseen."

The woman leaned against the door to steady her bulk. "What's the matter, Rosalie? Joe, we need lights."

"Joe. I'm going back right away."

"Back where, Rosalie?" The woman was breathing hard. "Where is Wayne?"

"I didn't marry him. His family wouldn't have me. His father gave me five thousand dollars to give him up. I took it. Now you know."

She turned and vanished through the back door opening from the dining room into the hall. Joe stood rigid. Lottie came in and pushed by them to switch on the lights.

"What's the matter? You both look as if you'd seen a ghost."

Joe turned and walked quickly through the door. Mrs. Monahan sank heavily into a chair. Lottie stared at her.

"What is the matter? Did you see a mouse or what?"

"A rat, my girl. Go up to Mulrooney's and send Pat home. Take Tuffy and get along with you."

"What about the party?"

"There ain't no party." She suddenly roared. "Do as I tell you and don't ask questions. Do it now."

W P L REPORTING

The annual "Reading Contest for Children" in the Warren Public Library has reached the half-way mark. Seventy youngsters are enrolled and looking forward to the Christmas party to be held in the library during the holidays. Every boy and girl who reads the required number of books will be invited. There are prizes for the first three children who complete the course.

Do you have "book-agent trouble?" Before you sign on the dotted line, call the library and ask about the "Subscription Books Bulletin." You wish to have some good reference books in your home for your children's use and are willing to make some sacrifice to build up a home library. But do you know whether a set is good to have, whether it is written by authorities in its line or whether it contains up-to-date subject matter? In most cases you don't know, and you may buy a set of good-looking books made up of old material, written by people who do not know their subject, giving inaccurate and misleading information. Most book-agents make extravagant claims for their special set and many families part with hard-earned money in exchange for poor books. Let your public library show you the "Subscription Books Bulletin" which evaluates all books sold by house-to-house salesmen.

"Have you ever considered what the mere ability to read means? That it is the key which admits us to the whole world of thought and fancy and imagination? To the company of the saint and sage, of the wisest and wisest moment? That it enables us to see with the keenest eyes, hear with the finest ears and listen to the sweetest voices of all time? More than that, it annihilates time and space for us."—James Russell Lowell.

The Librarian predicts that David Bradley's "No Place to Hide" will be one of the most talked of books this winter.

Deadline Tuesday For "Men's Night" At Woman's Club

Members of the Woman's Club are reminded they will have until tomorrow, Tuesday to make their reservations for the special "Men's Night" program of entertainment to be presented at the clubhouse on Saturday evening, December 11.

Howard Higgins, who will entertain following dinner with a talk and demonstration which are entitled "Among the Spirits" is, among other things, a member of the Society of American Magicians.

"Among the Spirits" is a demonstration-lecture showing how fortune-telling mediums enable "spirits" to return to deliver messages to their living friends and do presumably supernatural things.

Howard Higgins

Mr. Higgins has approached his subject with all objectivity of a pure scientist, and effectively scuttles practices of the most unprincipled mediums.

Part One of "Among the Spirits" is a composite seance including the outstanding features of leading mediums: Spirit forces, spirit vision, spirit slate writing, and the materialization of a spirit while the medium is securely bound and guarded by members of the audience.

Then follows the expose (Part Two), in which is exposed the technique used to establish belief in fortune telling, the membership. Demonstrations, speech and music are all blended in an expose that is dramatic, entertaining, and convincing.

Warren Dragons Top Erie East Warriors; Raiders Here Tuesday

Effective ball-handling in setting up scoring plays and good work under the boards on rebounds carried the Warren High Dragons to a 40-27 triumph over the highly-touted Erie East quintet before a packed house in Beatty gym Friday night.

The Erie Warriors, with seven lettermen forming the nucleus for the squad, was the third veteran combination the Dragons have knocked off in a row. Youngsville and St. Marys were defeated in the opening two games.

The Dragons will continue their home appearances Tuesday night against the Jamestown Raiders. This game will likely be the final chapter in a colorful athletic history between the two schools, unless the New Yorkers rescind their recent decision to terminate athletic relations next year because of a difference in player eligibility rules.

In Friday night's tilt, two quick field goals by Dick Christensen from directly under the hoop got the Blue and White off to a fast start and they were never headed.

By the end of the first quarter, the Dragons were ahead, 12 to 6, while the tally at halftime was 21-12. Third stanza firing was even, with each squad collecting six points, but in the home stretch, the Massmen notched 13 units to nine for Erie East.

Ted Shattuck, veteran Dragon guard, was high individual performer for the evening with 12 points on five baskets and two charity heaves. Christensen was close on his heels with 11 units, representing five field goals and a free throw. Best scorer for the Warriors was Harvey Martin, a forward, with eight points.

Gal Nelson, spark plug of the Dragon squad, suffered a slight cut over his right eye when his glasses were broken in a scramble for a rebound. However, he donned a spare pair of specs and remained in the game until the fourth stanza when he was benched for too many personal fouls. Erie East also lost one of its starting forwards, Bill Demyanovich, in the third stanza via the foul route.

The scoring for the Blue and White showed 15 field goals and a 10 out of 25 rating from the black stripe. Erie East slotted nine baskets and converted nine out of 17 free throws.

HEAVYWEIGHT KING OF DEER IS SLAIN

Pottsville, Dec. 6.—(P)—Robert Rosetar, 25-year-old Pottsville Army veteran, believes he has shot the heavyweight king of the Pennsylvania deer hunting season.

Rosetar bagged the animal yesterday. The deer weighed 211 pounds dressed and estimates on the animal's total weight on the hoof ranged up to 250 pounds. An average deer in Pennsylvania weighs about 170 pounds undressed.

It took Rosetar and the five other members of his hunting party six hours to tote the deer six miles to their car. So old its fur had turned greyish, the deer had 22-point antlers.

Youngsville Wins, 97-15

Backing up one of the largest point-totals in district scholastic basketball history, Youngsville Eagles swamped Hickory 97 to 15, in an Upper Allegheny Valley League tilt at Youngsville Friday night.

Haight blazed the victory trail for Youngsville with 16 points. Chappel was a step behind with 15. Boston was credited with 14 and Youngsville 10.

Hickory was limited to six field goals and three foul tosses. The Youngsville girls also won over the Hickory lasses, 28-19, to make it a 100 percent for the Eagle followers.

Patton's Record Approved By A.A.U.

New York, Dec. 6.—(P)—It took a hurried special committee meeting to do it, but Mel Patton was credited today with a 9.3 seconds 100 yard dash, the world's fastest.

After first rejecting the application, the Amateur Athletic Union approved the Southern California speedster's mark as an American record yesterday shortly before closing its annual convention.

It's the fastest time ever turned in for the 100 under acceptable conditions. Patton, the Olympic 200-meter champion, turned in the mark last May 15 at Fresno, Calif.

The A.A.U. records committee approved seven new outdoor track and field records Saturday but when Patton's sprint was brought up the group said it didn't have sufficient evidence to support it.

Harold Berliner, an official of the Pacific Association, read about this in the Sunday papers and got busy. He had the necessary information, but hadn't been called to the earlier session.

A special meeting of the records committee was called, and the group was shown reports that the three official timers two caught Patton on 9.3 and the other in 9.4. Also one of the alternate timers clocked the Southern California star in 9.3 while the other had 9.4.

SCHOOL BOY SIGNS TO PLAY WITH ERLE

Woodland, Me., Dec. 6.—(P)—Frank Glidden, Jr., 19-year-old pitcher, has signed to play with Erle in the Middle Atlantic League next season. He was graduated from St. Croix High School here last June.

The Chicago Bears have won more than 75 percent of the games they have played since they opened the National Football League in 1920.
